

Why Do You Treat Him Like That

Hey you know all the right people go to all the right places
why do you treat him like that

yea i've been watching from the sideline trying to figure it out in my mind
why do you treat him like that seems what you want him to go is find a new place somewhere he could go you won't see his face

what did he do to make you so mad why do you revel in him looking bad
why do you treat him like that

he's a man he's a man like anyone he ain't no different than everyone
why do you treat him like that we should be looking for some good we should be searching for some light if we were doing what we could we would be right

i got no reason to be you got no reason to be we got no reason to be so hateful

you're always putting him down every time i look around
why do you treat him like that