

Ordinary Day

yeah the world keeps spinning and the river water runs
it's a'roll'n like it's always done i'm gonna spend my time with the thought of you
and a bottle of wine
another ordinary day
mama since you been away
another ordinary day
ever since you're gone

yeah the redbird's sing'n all about his blue ridge home and he sounds a bit like he's alone i'm gonna sing my song
all by myself because she's gone
another ordinary day
mama since you been away
another ordinary day
ever since you're gone

when you said you couldn't find me ever fill'n up your time and you were leave'n me behind i died inside
and when your dead you seem to find out every day remains the same with no one here
and noth'n there
and never any chance of change

another ordinary day
mama since you been away
another ordinary day
ever since you're gone

yeah the world keeps spinning and
the river water runs
it's a'roll'n like it's always done

i'm gonna sing my song
all by myself because she's gone
another ordinary day
mama since you been away
another ordinary day
ever since you're gone

when you said you couldn't find
me ever fill'n up your time
and you were leave'n me behind
i died inside
and when your dead you seem to find out
every day remains the same
with no one here
and noth'n there
and never any chance of change

yeah the redbird's sing'n all
about his blue ridge home
and he sounds a bit like he's alone
i'm gonna spend my time
with the thought of you
and a bottle of wine

another ordinary day
mama since you been away
another ordinary day
mama since you been away
another ordinary day
ever since you're gone

by Keith Sykes © 1969